Henry D. Estabrook Gave Wilson Supporters a Spanking

President's Policies Were Cleverly Ridiculed Here.

With a card index and catalog of the vacillating methods of the Wilson administration, Henry D. Estabrook, of New York, spent an hour in clinching the argument against the return of Woodrow Wilson to the presidency. Estabrook's speech before a Topeka audience was a clever, clean-cut and decisive flaying of the Wilson policies from tariff to labor disputes, from rivers and harbors appropriations to policies in the European war.

Estabrook was sent to Topeka with the assurance that he was the best the Republican national committee could offer. Few Topekans had heard of New York lawyer, but today Estabrook has a reputation in Kansas as one of the sharpest tongued speakers who has addressed the audience in recent years. He walked on the Wilson administration as a tarantula attacks its victim with its poison sting. There are probably some who think the Democratic administration that Estabrook might commend. But in his zeal and enthusiasm, the New Yorker could not think of the fact, he expressed a patriotic sentiment akin to the Wisconsin congressman who would willingly stand with Wilson if Wilson would but stand in one place long enough.

Calls Wilson a Wobblor.

In his speech, Estabrook declared the Wilson administration had wobbled on every issue and in many instances left its own policies and teachings to adopt a principle taught by an opposition party. In the matter of foreign policies, Estabrook declared they resident had written so many notes and changed front so many times that he thought the audience did not know the stand of the American government as affecting foreign affairs.

Through the passage of the Adamson eight-hour law, the Democrats made a political play for votes, said the New York lawyer.

"That bill was passed on the eve of the Maine election," said Estabrook. "Maine wrote her decision and Maine will be ruled by the nation. The nation will be ruled by the administration that so strongly advocated the virtue of arbitration as to urge its principle in settling a world war. Yet in a political campaign a labor dispute embodies none of the issues to be settled by a court of arbitration and calls for hasty action without a vote or hearing. The nation saw the spectacle and promptly passed judgment—politics."

A large crowd heard Estabrook's speech in the auditorium. The speaker was introduced by J. S. Dean, of Topeka, who in turn was introduced by Charles H. Sessions, chairman of the Republican state committee. Estabrook spent Sunday in Topeka, a guest in the H. P. Dillon home. Today he speaks in Topeka and Chicago, and his Kansas engagement Tuesday night with a speech in Junction City.

Big Nine Teams Get Busy.

Chicago, Oct. 2.—Big nine eleven today plunged into another week of practice preparatory to the opening games of the season Saturday. Indiana was the only member of the conference to play Saturday, but all have games scheduled this week, promising much more than a good practice workout, except Iowa, which is to take on Cornell.

Chicago Golfers Win Out.

St. Louis, Oct. 2.—Chicago golfers won the St. Louis golf trophy from Hartford, Conn., players here, three matches to none. The play ended the three-day tournament held under the auspices of the National Municipal Recreation federation.

From Everywhere.THE OPENERS ON KANSAS GRIDIRONS
BIG SURPRISE TO MANY DOPESTERS

Normals Held K. U. to Close Score; Washburn Varsity Swamped "Freshies."

The dope was splashed around considerable in Saturday's games on Kansas gridirons, the failure of the Jayhawkers to swamp the Emporia Normals and the ruthless manner in which the Washburn varsity ran rough shod over the freshmen being the distinctive features.

Bill Hargiss' Emporia Normal squad showed surprising strength, and after keeping Olcott's K. U. men on the defensive most of the time lost by the close score of 13 to 0. K. U. scored the first touchdown in the initial quarter after a 35 yard pass and again counted in the final period after recovering a blocked kick. The K. U. coaches did not use their three lineups as had been announced but kept their best men in the fracas thruout. Cutler, of the Normal team, was the individual star of the contest.

The St. Marys-Midland game and that of Aggie-Baker were the only ones in the state that ended up as a draw. The Catholics won by the score of 14 to 0 after playing a defensive game most of the time. The Aggies took Baker into camp 20 to 0 without extending themselves very much, being content to keep the play in their opponents' territory most of the time and making touchdowns when it was most convenient to get thru with little effort. Fairmount defeated Kansas Wesleyan 28 to 0.

The varsity-freshman game at Washburn was very much of a surprise, as the husky youngsters were doped to play their senior opponents to a close finish. But with Brumage out of the lineup, the confidence of the freshmen was badly shattered, and this, together with stage fright, handicapped them considerably. But, at the 15 to 0 score that the varsity piled up was more to the credit of Captain Stewart's men than to the discredit of the youngsters.

Varsity Shoved Punch.

Stewart's punting was the big feature of the varsity playing, but the team showed quite a hefty punch in every feature. The interference that the regulars put up showed that they have already developed along this line as much as they had at mid-season last year, and the forward pass plays, made difficult by the high wind, looked encouraging.

Stewart's kick off starting the game was his poorest of the day, and the freshmen made their first lunge on their own 30-yard line. A fumble gave the varsity the ball and before three minutes of play had elapsed, Hope skirted around right end for 20 yards and for the first touchdown of the season. Stewart kicked a perfect goal against the wind.

Stewart's second kick sailed 45 yards and was received by Jones, who made a very slight return. Wilson attempted to punt the freshmen out of the danger zone, but his kick was blocked and Hester recovered the ball on the 20-yard line. Stewart tried a field goal that failed, and the freshmen, again afraid to try for gains, punted. Perry, Champney and Hope carried the ball goalward, making long gains on end runs and thru the line, and Hope again went over for a touchdown.

Scored Safety.

The varsity again forced the freshmen within the shadow of their goal posts and on a bad pass from center the ball was downed behind the line for a safety that counted two points. Before the end of the quarter the freshmen again fumbled, giving the ball to their opponents and after Stewart made a spectacular 17-yard run, Sargent went over for the last counter of the first quarter.

The varsity let up during the second quarter and after Hope had gone over early in the play there were no more scores until time was called. In the third quarter both teams sent in subs and the contest resumed a resemblance to the earlier play. After Stewart's kick the varsity recovered the ball on a fumble and Sullivan and McCosh marched down the field for the fourth touchdown, McCosh going over.

Wilson kicked 37 yards to Calihan, and Stewart returned the punt on the first down. Stewart then intercepted a forward pass and raved 45 yards, close enough for McCosh to go over on the second down. Two more touchdowns were added in the final period, Sullivan going over for the first and Stewart for the last. Stewart did not miss a goal during the afternoon. Eight forward passes were attempted by the varsity, but on account of the Topeka Amateurs Defeat Newton for State Title.

Visitors Couldn't Solve Huggins' Mystifying Twirling.

Playing for the amateur championship of Kansas—a title that is disputed by the Santa Fe G. O. team—the Ideal Bakers defeated the Newton Santa Fe team at Savage park by the score of 5 to 4 before a crowd of several hundred fans.

Squire Huggins, a former Savage twirler, and a native of Oakland, was the principal factor in the victory. Squire had all of his assortment of offerings on display—his hesitator, his Missouri Pacific and his fast hopper as well as his corkcreeper—and in all he fanned 14 batsmen.

Sieged Not Bad.

Siegel, the Newtonian flinger, also showed considerable stuff, striking out 9, but he was not as effective in the pinches and his support was not airtight. The Newtonians made their first run in the opening inning on a walk, a stolen base and a sacrifice. The Ideals tied the count in the fourth when Bernander crossed the plate on Reed's single, and two more scores in the fifth, made by Huggins and Leach, gave them the lead they held until the end.

The Santa Fe General Office team asserts that the Ideals cannot claim a clear title to the state championship until they have taken the G. O. team into camp, and they issued a formal challenge to Manager Kephart, but so far no arrangements for a game have been made.

Can't Play All.

"If we accepted the challenge of every team in the state," the Ideal manager said, "we would be playing all winter."

"Well, you had better win the championship of your home town," the representative of the G. O.'s replied, "before you claim the state championship."

And there the negotiations ended. The lineup, score and summary of Sunday's game:

WILL BIG ED PFEFFER, DODGERS' STAR, BE ANOTHER WORLD'S SERIES SLAB HERO?

Ed Pfeffer, the Brooklyn Dodgers' best pitching bet, has more class physically than any other pitcher in the league and a big part of his speed this season may be attributed to his great physique. Pfeffer is not the ornate pitcher in the game, but he knows thoroughly how to use all of his mechanical ability. He has lots of stuff and the strength to use it.

STIEHM HAS REAL TEAM

Old Husker Coach Already Has Made Indiana Feared Opponent.

Chicago, Ill., Oct. 2.—In less than ten days, "Dumbo" Stiehm, Indiana's new coach, has developed an open, offensive that is likely to cause an upset or two in big nine calculations that his fall, according to experts who today reviewed opening battles in central states football.

Despite the deprecatory way in which Stiehm speaks of the Hoosier defense, it is believed his team is one to be feared if merely because of the forward pass attack he has drilled into it. Indiana may be reckoned now as dangerous eleven always able to slip over a long pass, critics say, who base their statements on reports of the Hoosier defeat of DePauw. In other particulars Indiana is not up to the form it will have to show to rank high in conference, but Stiehm may be expected to strengthen the defense before the Chicago game, October 14.

SCOREBOARD FLASHES

Sunday's hero—Fred Toney, Pitching for Cincinnati defeated the Pirates and elected his first victory in the National league.

Pete Schneider, another Cincinnati pitcher, took a championship for Cincy when he hit a batter further than anyone else in a league hitting contest before the game.

Three home runs and some other runs gave the Cubs the game over the Cards. Catcher Broten of the Cardinals three times broke up attempts at double steals.

The Indians knocked all the pennant aspirations out of the White Sox when they broke even with the Chicagoans in a doubleheader. Speaker barked a trio of hits out of seven times up, Eddie Collins stole three bases in the second game.

Charles H. Ebbets thought he would show what a fine fellow he was, and gave a free exhibition of his baseball players in Brooklyn. Very few fans were out and they spent the afternoon running an oval chorus.

Eddie Plank was too much for the Tigers. The old master allowed them thirteen hits but they were able to score only three runs.

RED SOX WINNERS

Boston Americans Can't Lose the 1916 Pennant Now.

Fate of the Dodgers Rests in Hands of John McGraw.

New York, Oct. 2.—It is up to John McGraw, manager of the Giants, today to determine the final standing of the Dodgers in the mad dash for the National league championship. With the Dodgers clinging to the top by a bare margin of one point, less than half a game, Wilbert Robinson will send his charges into the final series of the season this afternoon against the Giants.

If the McGrawites take two of the four games from the Dodgers and the Phillies succeed in winning four from the Braves, the hopes of John McGraw's best friend in baseball will be wrecked. McGraw, faithful to the stern, business side of baseball, will have snatched the pennant from the hands of Wilbert Robinson, his former assistant.

Phils Play Braves.

The Phillies, fresh from their triumph in Brooklyn, where they whipped the Dodgers two out of three games, go into action against the Braves this afternoon in Philadelphia. They will play a doubleheader today and must finish the season by four more clashes with George Stallings' scrappers.

If the Phillies can make a clean sweep of the series, they will win the pennant without another game in the series. For, in that event, the Dodgers could not win even if they dropped the Giants in four straight meetings. Today's club was favored today, the last stretch of the race to see who will go into the world's series against the Red Sox for the Phillies are meeting one of the hardest nuts of either league in the Braves, and the Dodgers must go into their final series against a team which has just established a new major league record in consecutive victories and which is conceded to be one of the greatest baseball machines ever placed together.

The Red Sox are ready to rest on their oars and prime up for the world's title clash with the National league champions. They became the last stretch of the race to see who will go into the world's series against the Red Sox for the Phillies are meeting one of the hardest nuts of either league in the Braves, and the Dodgers must go into their final series against a team which has just established a new major league record in consecutive victories and which is conceded to be one of the greatest baseball machines ever placed together.

It has been announced from Boston that Boston's share of the John McGraw will be staged at Braves field, where they were played a year ago. The national commission has announced a meeting for tomorrow in New York to arrange a schedule for the contests.

Noodles and Nuggets

Dug from the Dope Pot By Clug.

The Washburn freshmen will play Campbell college at Holton next Saturday. And they will have to win by a wide margin to wipe out the remembrance of Saturday's 38 to 6 affair.

But the freshmen have an alibi. Brumage was out of the line up, and they had builded all their plans around him. Also, they claim that they lacked experience.

From the way he played Saturday, Colville looks like the man who will fill the shoes at center on the Ichabod eleven. His passing, both direct and otherwise, was good for a green man.

Possibly the Jayhawkers did not want to defeat the Normals by a bigger score than 13 to 0. But if this is not the case, the other M. V. teams have little to fear from K. U. and the other Kansas conference teams and a great deal to fear from Bill Hargiss.

Sargent and Baker promise to stage a first quarter back on Dr. Kennedy's Ichabod eleven. In Saturday's fracas Sargent's running of the team and his interference made him look mighty good while Baker excelled in returning punts by a wide margin.

There is no doubt but that Jim Perry is going to make Washburn a valuable backfield man. And speaking of Washburn's backfield, material, McCosh and Champney look like they are out to have a big year. Champney's end, runs Saturday were great ground gainers.

Of Captain Willie's freshman squad, Wilson, Budge and Dungan give the most promise of becoming whirlwinds next season. However, Gaston showed well Saturday.

Today John Savage left for Lincoln to attend the meeting of the Western league managers, at which plans for next season will be discussed. The meeting will be held tomorrow.

Excelsior the pitchers, the best looking youngster in Sunday's Ideal-Newton game was Willie Littlefield, an 18-year-old kid from Mayetta. His speed and head work made him a favorite with the spectators from the start of the game and he came thru with his reputation unsullied.

Littlefield is now a high school student at Mayetta. He has been to Haskell institute, and he is an unusually bright Indian boy. His baseball name naturally is "Chief."

The Republican players on the Newton team can blame President Wilson and his Mexican policy for their loss of the state championship. They became the last stretch of the race to see who will go into the world's series against the Red Sox for the Phillies are meeting one of the hardest nuts of either league in the Braves, and the Dodgers must go into their final series against a team which has just established a new major league record in consecutive victories and which is conceded to be one of the greatest baseball machines ever placed together.
